Tagging Best Practices And Passing Them On

Brian Suerth, 38, is executive vice president and partner for Technology Assurance Group (TAG), an international association of independently owned communications companies that deliver best business practice training and consultation. TAG supports the evolution of its member companies by providing powerful competitive advantages through education of proven business processes and the introduction of new technology through its strategic partnerships with leading manufacturers and application service providers. During his time at TAG, Suerth has rapidly risen to national notoriety as a sales and motivational speaker in the areas of management, sales, strategic planning and marketing. As a result of his exceptional performance, his relationship at TAG has grown from an independent contractor to employee to co-owner. Today, Suerth sits on the Advisory Board for Telematrix, a leading provider of unified communications systems for the hospitality industry. He has been active in the community throughout his career, participating in the marketing committee of the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and a committee member for the annual Asian Business Association convention. He is a member of the board of the Human Development Foundation, a nonprofit organization that provides educational resources and learning experiences for intellectually gifted, low-income elementary students.
